MARK KASS

Mark Kass is editor-in-chief of the Milwaukee Business Journal, an award-winning southeastern Wisconsin business newspaper and web site. He has been editor since 2003 and has led the paper to win dozens of awards, including from the Milwaukee Press Club and the Society for Advancing Business Editing and Writing. Under his leadership, the paper is the leading source of business news in southeastern Wisconsin. He previously was a reporter and managing editor at the paper. He also worked at the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District and has written for the New York Times, Chicago Sun Times, Crain's Chicago and Milwaukee Magazine.

He lives in downtown Milwaukee with his wife Kaye. The couple has a daughter Abby, who lives in Milwaukee and works for BuzzFeed. Mark and Kaye are very active in the community, previously co-chairing fundraising events for the Wisconsin Humane Society, Harry & Rose Samson Jewish Community Center, the American Red Cross and the Sojourner Family Peace Center.
